

TABLE S1. Localities of apatite containing oriented inclusions and inferred formation processes.

Locality	Mineral inclusions and host rocks	Process	Reference
Pyrhotite
Tromsø Nappe, North Norwegian Caledonides, Norway	UHP metamorphism, Silicate-rich carbonate rock, underwent decompression and retrogression	Exsolution + fluid mediated regime	Broska et al., 2014
UHP metamorphic terrain of the Sulu Area, China	UHP metamorphism: eclogite and retrograde eclogite	Exsolution	Zhu and Massonne, 2005, 2007
Rhodope metamorphic province, northeastern Greece	UHP event followed by a metamorphic overprint at granulite-facies conditions; kyanite-eclogites	Exsolution	Kostopoulos et al., 2010
Monazite
Maowu body, Dabie-Sulu terrane, Dabie Mountains, China	UHP metamorphism: garnet clinopyroxenite	Exsolution	Liou et al., 1998 Zhang and Liou, 1999
UHP-terrain, Southern part of the Pohorje Mountains, Slovenia	UHP metamorphism (“Eoalpine”): monazite-bearing kyanite-garnet gneiss	Exsolution	Krenn et al., 2008
The Kiirunavaara deposit, Kiruna area, northern Sweden	Magnetite–apatite ore	Rock-fluid interaction	Harlov et al., 2002
Archean Hemlo gold deposit, Archaean Hemlo-Heron Bay greenstone belt, Ontario, Canada	Middle amphibolite facies, with hydrothermal alteration following the peak regional metamorphism: hydrothermally altered muscovite schists	Rock-fluid interaction	Pan et al., 1993
Manitouwadge volcanogenic massive sulfide camp, Archean Manitouwadge greenstone belt, Ontario, Canada	Upper amphibolite facies, with hydrothermal alteration in the late stage: garnet-rich cordierite-orthoamphibole gneiss.	Rock-fluid interaction	Pan, 1997
Reinbolt Hills, East Antarctic Granulite Province, East Antarctica	Granulite facies: metamorphosed sillimanite-bearing pegmatoid	Metasomatic overprint	Ziemann et al., 2005
Monazite and xenotime
Val Strona di Omegna, Ivrea–Verbano Zone, northern Italy	Granulite facies: pyroxene bearing metabasite	Dissolution–precipitation	Harlov and Foster, 2002
Kigluaik Mountains, antiformal gneiss terrane, Seward Peninsula, Alaska	Amphibolite to granulite facies: orthogneiss of tonalitic composition	Rock-fluid Interaction	Harlov and Foster, 2002
Val Sessera, Vereilli province, northern Italy	Granodiorite to aplite-like microgranite	Not noticed	Pigorini and Veniale, 1968
Gloserheia granite pegmatite, Precambrian Kongsberg-Bamble formation, Froland, Southern Norway	Granitic pegmatite	Exsolution + metasomatism	Almi, 1975
