

Fig S5. Pseudosection showing relationship between composition and oxidation state at different temperatures. At a particular temperature, symplectite in both olivine gabbro and oxide gabbro can be developed at similar  $f\text{O}_2$  condition. However, higher redox condition is required at progressively higher temperature.